80 YEARS OF REDSKINS FOOTBALL

The Washington Redskins are celebrating their 80th Anniversary in 2012, and for all of the legendary players and coaches that have built the history and tradition of the organization, the franchise set out this year to thank those who made it all possible: the fans.

The Redskins kicked off their year-long celebration on May 10, hosting an event in the team's new Indoor Training Facility to honor the team's rich history, unveil new Nike throwback uniforms and announce the 80th anniversary campaign, themed "Hail to our Fans."

It was there the team kicked off voting for the '10 for 80' campaign, in which fans and a blue ribbon panel were asked to select which 10 members of the organization would join the 70 Greatest Redskins, named in 2002, to form the 80 Greatest Redskins. The night also kicked off the team's 80th Anniversary Thank You Tour, as players, coaches, cheerleaders, alumni and announcers boarded a specially-designed bus for stops all across Washington D.C., Virginia and Maryland throughout the summer of 2012.

The celebration has also provided yet another way for the Redskins to give back to the communities that the team calls home. The Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation will award a series of grants throughout the year to local youth-based nonprofit organizations. Additionally, the team's 80th Anniversary Homecoming Gala on Friday, Nov. 2, will help benefit the youth programs supported by the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation.

The 80th anniversary campaign will conclude with the homecoming game between the Redskins and Carolina Panthers on Nov. 4. The game will feature an alumni parade with the Redskins Marching Band and Cheerleaders, as well as the introduction of the 80 Greatest Redskins.

The Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation strives to level the playing field for the youths of our region through education, community outreach, and health and wellness initiatives for elementary through high school students.

STARTING SMART

REDSKINS READ

Through Redskins Read, the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation helps students read at or above grade level by the time they complete elementary school. Redskins Read uses the excitement and community influence of Redskins players to promote literacy through production and distribution of activity books, player reading appearances, a children's book drive, and literacy contests.

REDSKINS READ ACTIVITY BOOK

The cornerstone of the Redskins Read program is the Redskins Read Activity Book. The activity book is produced and distributed free of charge, with help from FedEx Special Delivery, throughout the metro area to school districts, public libraries, non-profit organizations, after-school programs, and fans. To date, more than 1.7 million activity books have been distributed.

LIVING WELL

PLAY 60

The fight to combat childhood obesity and get children active is a priority for the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation. Through health and wellness programs such as the Play 60 Challenge, Hometown Huddle, and Fields for Tomorrow, young people are learning how to eat healthy and develop physically active lifestyles.

HOMETOWN HUDDLE

As part of the NFL-United Way's Hometown Huddle, Washington Redskins players held a school-wide fitness assembly for over 700 students Calverton Elementary School in Beltsville, MD. Since the NFL-United Way Hometown Huddle program launched in 1999, the Washington Redskins have built youth fitness zones, hosted youth football clinics, rebuilt neighborhood playgrounds, and upgraded fitness facilities.

FLAG FOOTBALL CLINIC

In support of Coca-Cola's "Live Positively: Get the Ball Rolling" campaign, the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation held a flag football clinic at FedExField for 200 middle school students from Maryland, Virginia, and Washington, D.C. Redskins players served as honorary coaches (and in some cases, quarterbacks) as these young people spent the afternoon being physically active and learning about the importance of healthy living.

FINISHING STRONG

COACHES IN THE CLASSROOM

Coaches in the Classroom places academic advisors for athletics at area high schools throughout the region. The advisors help student-athletes create an academic game plan to prepare them for college. As an extension of the Coaches in the Classroom program, the Foundation works with the D.C. College Success Foundation to annually provide one high-potential, low-income Washington, D.C. or Prince George's County high school student with a $25,000 college scholarship.

4TH & LIFE

This curriculum-based program for high school football players focuses on what it takes to be successful on the field, in the classroom, and in the workplace by using examples from Redskins players and alumni. Forums allow the student-athletes to get up close and personal with their on-field heroes. Redskins players speaking at the forums represent a broad range of experience and backgrounds that allow them to connect with their young audience.

LEVELING THE PLAYING FIELD

HARVEST FEAST

With the help of Washington Redskins ownership, players, and Foundation partners, the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation distributed 45,500 pounds of turkey and 110,000 pounds of fresh and packaged groceries to more than 3,500 underserved Prince George's County (MD) families this year. The annual event is made possible through the generous support of FedEx, Harris Teeter, Operation Blessing, Prince George's County Social Services, and Ryan Homes.

COVERED FOR THE HOLIDAYS

In partnership with Macy's, the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation and a dozen Redskins players "covered" 300 local youth with brand-new winter coats, hats and gloves to help keep them warm during the cold winter months. Students also received gift bags filled with plush toys and Redskins memorabilia and were mesmerized by a magician and balloon artist.

SKINS SANTA SHOPPE AND TOUCHDOWN FOR TOTS

Skins Santa Shoppe annually provides holiday presents to area youths that otherwise would have gone without gifts. The program kicks off in early December with the launch of the United States Marine Corps "Touchdown for Tots" toy collection and culminates with a day-long toy giveaway in the Redskins locker room. Children attending Skins Santa Shoppe select a brand-new toy and book with the help of Washington Redskins players and United States Marines.

FIELDS FOR TOMORROW

Since 2000, the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation has renovated, maintained, or improved 30 football fields in the Washington, D.C. metro area. More than 9,000 school-aged children use the fields the Foundation maintains each year for football, soccer, lacrosse, and more. At the beginning of the 2012-13 academic year, the Foundation will be responsible for maintaining 19 of the 22 public high school football fields in Prince George's County, MD.

REDSKINS REPLAY

The Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation receives thousands of requests for tickets to Redskins games from youth-focused organizations, children battling life-threatening illnesses, nonprofit groups focused on providing activities for youth who have family members deployed and youth football organizations. Redskins Replay allows season ticket holders to make a tax-deductible donation of their tickets to the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation.

SIGNATURE EVENTS AND FUNDRAISERS

REDSKINS WELCOME HOME LUNCHEON

Since 1961, the Washington Redskins have hosted the annual Welcome Home Luncheon prior to the start of the regular season. Fans have the opportunity to meet Redskins coaches, players, and alumni. Proceeds benefit the youth programs of the Redskins Charitable Foundation and Redskins Alumni Association.

CELEBRITY GOLF TOURNAMENT

The annual Mickey Steele Celebrity Golf Tournament benefits childhood cancer programs of the Rypien Foundation and the youth programs of the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation. Foursomes are paired with Redskins players and alumni.

LICENSE PLATES

Virginia and Maryland residents are able to purchase specialty Washington Redskins license plates that show their Redskins pride from the Capital Beltway to the George Washington Memorial Parkway and beyond! Proceeds from the license plate sales benefit the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation's youth programs focusing on education, community outreach, and health and wellness.

DANIEL M. SNYDER

REDSKINS OWNER

Daniel M. Snyder's life has been consumed by an enduring love for the Washington Redskins.

Growing up in the D.C. area, his youth and young adulthood were shaped and inspired by his devotion to the team. Now in his second decade as owner, Snyder has put his passion into action. He has consistently led the franchise to new prominence in the community, the business world, and the National Football League. Under his leadership, the team has raised millions of dollars for charities and maintained its place in the top tier of the world's most valuable sports franchises.

Snyder, 46, is prominent in the affairs of the NFL, where his expertise in the fields of marketing and media has been recognized with appointments to the Broadcast Committee, the Business Ventures Committee, the Digital Media Committee, the Hall of Fame Committee (which oversees the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio), and, separately, as a member of the Board of Directors of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

The Redskins, who continue to be ranked among the world's most valuable sports franchises on Forbes magazine's annual list, remain at the forefront of NFL marketing and business organizations. Since buying the team, Snyder has launched a highly successful retail arm, with more than a dozen Official Redskins Stores in Virginia and Maryland, as well as mobile units for use at home games and other events.

FedExField, the team's wholly-owned stadium, has the largest seating capacity in the NFL with 85,000 seats. Tickets to Redskins games have been sold out for more than 40 years. Since he purchased the team, Snyder invested more than $100 million in improvements to the facility, including high-speed escalators to the upper deck, updated signage, more than 1,000 flat-screen TVs in concourses and other areas, as well as the League standard-setting Owner's Club East and Owner's Club West private luxury suites. In 2010, the Redskins installed two new video boards – 30 feet high and 100 feet wide – in each of the end zones at FedExField. The screens feature state-of-the-art high definition LED displays and tripled the size of the previous end zone video displays. The team also enhanced the fans' gameday experience with all-new game clocks, play clocks, other in-stadium video displays and the Party Deck Platform on the Club Level.

The Club's media ventures include Redskins Nation, a daily 30-minute television show produced by the Redskins Broadcast Network, television and radio broadcasts via Redskins.com, a robust editorial staff, professional sports' first full-time independent blogger, and Extremeskins.com, the team's fan forum with more than 100,000 registered members. The team also produces a variety of other television programs, broadcast independently as well as in partnership with local television outlets.

During Snyder's 13 seasons as owner of the team, 19 different Redskins have earned a total of 32 Pro Bowl appearances, nine different Redskins have been named All-Pro, and nine Redskins draft picks have been selected to the All-Rookie Team. In addition, two players from his tenure as owner, Darrell Green and Bruce Smith, have gone on to induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Snyder was Founder, Chairman and CEO of Snyder Communications, Inc. and was the youngest CEO of a New York Stock Exchange company at the time. From its launch in 1985, the company grew to a global organization of 12,000 employees, with 77 offices in 17 countries, and more than $1 billion in annual revenues. The company's client base included 200 of the Fortune 500, to which it provided targeted marketing solutions, including advertising and marketing services. In March 2000 the company was acquired by the French marketing firm Havas for more than $2.3 billion, at the time the largest such merger in the history of the advertising/marketing industry.

Snyder is founder and Chairman Emeritus of inVentiv Health (NASDAQ: VTIV). His RedZone Capital investment firm maintains the Johnny Rockets chain of hamburger, fries and shake shops in its portfolio of owned companies, along with dick clark productions, inc., the premier producer of live television programs such as the Golden Globe Awards, the Academy of Country Music Awards, the American Music Awards and the hit reality series "So You Think You Can Dance," as well as numerous other productions. Additionally, Snyder is founder and Managing Member of the Board of Red Zebra Broadcasting, LLC, which operates radio stations in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia airing Redskins broadcasts, popular national radio shows and locally generated programming. He is a partner with Tom Cruise in Cruise/Wagner Productions, the actor's production company, and was an Executive Producer of Cruise's 2008 film "Valkyrie." Snyder is active in a variety of other private business ventures, both as an investor and as an advisor to management. He is a frequent invitee to share his experiences and views with business organizations nationwide, and he is enshrined in the Jewish Sports Hall of Fame.

Snyder continues to be one of the Washington area's most prominent community leaders. He is active in the Larry King Heart Foundation, and devotes most of his public philanthropic efforts to Washington's Children's Hospital and the Center for Missing and Exploited Children. His support enabled construction of the Snyder Family Emergency Medicine and Trauma Center at Children's Hospital. He is a member of the Children's Hospital Foundation Board of Directors. He also funded construction of the Daniel M. Snyder and Family Communication Center at the Center for Missing and Exploited Children. Each day the Center handles hundreds of calls from around the nation from law enforcement organizations, parents of missing children, run-aways seeking help, and people responding to the Center's well-known awareness campaigns on behalf of missing children. He also serves on the Executive Board of the Martin Luther King Memorial Project.

In 2000, Snyder founded the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation, which utilizes the assets of the Washington Redskins and its corporate and community partners to make a positive and measurable impact on youth development in the greater Washington, D.C., region in the areas of education, community outreach, and health and wellness. Since its inception, Charitable Foundation programs have made an impact on millions of lives and given back well over $13 million to individuals, groups, and organizations in the community.

Washington Redskins players also donate their time, talents, and resources by providing toys, coats, and clothes to children inspiring young football players and making wishes come true for some little fans battling big diseases. In addition, Snyder, Redskins players, and other volunteers annually distribute more than 33,000 pounds of turkey and 120,000 pounds of other food in the form of Thanksgiving food baskets for Prince George's County, Md., families in need during Harvest Feast.

In 2010, Snyder was honored by Beacon House, a nonsectarian, neighborhood-based organization that supports at-risk youth and families of the Edgewood Terrace community in Washington, D.C., during a community celebration to dedicate the football field at Edgewood Department of Parks and Recreation Center. The Charitable Foundation assisted in renovating the center with a newly resurfaced field, bleachers, and an electronic scoreboard.

This past April, Snyder was presented Youth For Tomorrow's Distinguished Leader Award in recognition of his years of support for the organization's private, residential school and counseling center in Bristol, Va., which has provided year-round care for more than 900 homeless and at-risk children ages 11-17 from Northern Virginia and the District of Columbia. The honor is periodically awarded to individuals who have demonstrated long and generous support to Youth For Tomorrow. In announcing the award at YFT's annual Burgundy and Gold Banquet, Hall of Fame Redskins Head Coach Joe Gibbs, who is also Founder and Chairman of Youth For Tomorrow, said, "Dan Snyder began his support of the kids at Youth For Tomorrow long before I ever considered returning to coach the team in 2004."

Redskins Owner Daniel M. Snyder (left) hands out turkeys at the Harris Teeter-Redskins Harvest Feast at FedExField in 2011. Harvest Feast is an annual event that distributes 3,500 turkeys and Thanksgiving food baskets to Prince George's County residents in need. The Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation, founded by Snyder in 2000, holds the event.

TANYA SNYDER

NATIONAL SPOKESPERSON FOR BREAST CANCER AWARENESS

Tanya Snyder is an extraordinary role model, experienced business owner, dedicated advocate on breast cancer awareness, philanthropist, and of course, a passionate Washington Redskins fan. As the leader of the “team behind the team,” Mrs. Snyder is the driving force behind the Washington Redskins social and community activities, and she leads the players’ and coaches’ wives organization. Those activities are an important part of her life but she considers her most important job to be her role as a mother to her children and a wife, advisor and companion to her husband, Daniel M. Snyder, the owner of the Redskins.

Mrs. Snyder prefers a low profile, but she has an ongoing interest and commitment to support causes related to women and children. Her most public charitable activities are focused on Children’s National Medical Center, where the family’s endowment enabled construction of the Snyder Family Foundation emergency center in addition to the Snyder Family Foundation communications center at the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children.

Mrs. Snyder, herself a breast cancer survivor, has led the team’s involvement in the Race for the Cure and has become a prominent presence nationally in the fight against breast cancer. She has served as the NFL’s National Spokesperson for Breast Cancer Awareness in the League’s “A Crucial Catch” campaign. Last October, Mrs. Snyder and Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Kathleen Sebelius joined cancer advocates and survivors to emphasize the importance of breast cancer awareness and recognize the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program. The program has given low-income, uninsured, and underinsured women access to lifesaving breast and cervical cancer screenings since 1991. In November, she accepted the American Cancer Society Impact Award on behalf of the NFL.

For the Redskins, she guides activities such as the Hurricane Katrina relief fund, the team’s annual Thanksgiving food program, and she hosts the annual Rally Round the Redskins event to benefit the Ronald McDonald House. In addition, she co-chairs the Taste of the NFL Event benefiting the Capital Area Food Bank.

Previously, Mrs. Snyder was a print, commercial and runway model and had a successful business representing women’s clothing to specialty stores and boutiques throughout the Southeast.

The Snyders have three children and live in Potomac, Md.

BRUCE ALLEN

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT/ GENERAL MANAGER

"Bruce Allen is the personification of an NFL winner. Our fans know his heritage; we know his abilities. He is the right person to lead our club." – Redskins owner Daniel M. Snyder

Bruce Allen has come full circle. More than 30 years have passed since Allen resided in the Washington, D.C., region and was a ball boy for his father, George Allen, the late Hall of Fame head coach who led the "Over the Hill Gang" Washington Redskins to an NFC Championship in 1972 and an appearance in Super Bowl VII.

Allen was named the Redskins' Executive Vice President/General Manager on December 17, 2009, after a decorated career spanning more three decades as a general manager and executive with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the Oakland Raiders and a successful run in the USFL with the Chicago Blitz and the Arizona Wranglers.

"It's exciting because of the history, the tradition, the comfort about coming home. Everybody who knows me, knows that the principles of football in my mind are simple – it's a team. It's 53 men, the entire staff, everybody in the building going in the same direction for one common goal, and that's to win."

Aside from his management of the Redskins football operations, Allen has led an initiative to extend the Redskins' outreach to their former players. Since the summer of 2011, he has been the impetus behind numerous alumni gatherings, which started with a barbeque coinciding with the team's mini-camp. The Redskins welcomed more than 100 former players, coaches and staff members to Redskins Park, where they watched practice, reminisced with each other and interacted with current players and members of the organization.

Among the former greats on hand were Hall of Famers Charley Taylor, Bobby Mitchell, Art Monk and Sam Huff. Others in attendance included Mark Moseley, Pat Fischer, Mike Nelms, Brig Owens, Darryl Pounds, Larry Brown, Neal Olkewicz, Ken Harvey, Raleigh McKenzie, George Starke, Bill Brundige and Darryl Grant.

"This is a great day for the Washington Redskins," Allen said. "It's a special time to bring back not only the legends of the game but also some of the architects of the Washington Redskins that our fans have loved over the decades. You get to see that they are great people and it's wonderful to have them here."

"We owe them a great debt of gratitude for their accomplishments for building this game. Not just the three Super Bowl trophies, but the way they have represented themselves in the burgundy and gold. I think they're going to give great lessons for our current players to follow. We're fortunate that we have such great alumni."

The Redskins also welcomed back their alumni last fall for their inaugural Homecoming Weekend. The likes of Larry Brown, Gary Clark, Pat Fischer, Russ Grimm, Sam Huff, Joe Jacoby, Deacon Jones, Sonny Jurgensen and Doug Williams were among 62 former players who were on hand at FedExField participating in festivities, which opened to fans with a parade featuring the alumni, marching band and cheerleaders. Before the current Redskins players were introduced, their predecessors were given the chance to walk out of the tunnel one more time to the cheers of more than 80,000 fans in attendance.

In addition to his ongoing connection with Redskins Alumni, Allen is actively involved with the Redskins community outreach efforts. Allen has taken the time to personally connect with Redskins fans all over the world via one-on-one meetings, phone calls and e-mails to foster and strengthen the organization's relationship with its fans.

In August of 2011, he assumed the role of President of the Board of the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation. Even before taking over these duties, Allen participated in many of the Foundation's signature events, including the Redskins Alumni Golf Classic, where he serves as Chairman, the Redskins Easter Egg Hunt, the Fields for Tomorrow field dedication, the Mickey Steele Memorial Golf Outing, and the Leukemia & Lymphoma Golf tournament, among others.

Allen has also lent his time to helping other Redskins greats' philanthropic works, including Doug Williams' Washington Football Legends for Charity and Joe Gibbs' Youth For Tomorrow.

Allen maintains a proud and close relationship with the Washington, D.C., Maryland and Virginia community where he spent much of his youth. This past June, Allen had the honor of serving as the commencement speaker at his alma mater, Langley High School. He has also been an advocate for youth football safety and was instrumental in the passing of the District of Columbia Athletic Concussion Act of 2010.

Allen and his wife, Kiersten, have a son, George, and a daughter, Mikayla. Kiersten serves on the Moffitt Cancer Foundation Board of Directors, where she and Bruce have worked to aid in the Foundation's mission to contribute to the prevention and cure of cancer.

Allen was drafted by the Baltimore Colts as a 12th-round selection in 1978 out of the University of Richmond. He played for the Spiders from 1974-77, earning All-ECAC and All-South Independent honors in his junior season, when he ranked 16th in the nation and broke a school punting record with a 42.9-yard average. He earned his degree in business marketing.

Allen's late father George, who was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2002, was Head Coach of the Redskins from 1971-77. He never had a losing campaign in his seven seasons at the helm, amassing a 67-30-1 record and an appearance in Super Bowl XII.

Like his father, who developed the original Redskins Park, Bruce is spearheading the effort for facility improvements to provide the Redskins a state-of-the-art team headquarters equipped with every necessary amenity and competitive advantage to support the football operation.

Bruce's brother George served as Virginia governor and as a U.S. Senator from Virginia. He also has two other siblings, Greg, a psychologist specializing in family counseling and Founder of Freedom4U in Southern California, and Jennifer Allen Richard, an author and contributor to the NFL Network.

Mike Shanahan, one of the most accomplished head coaches in the history of the National Football League enters his third season as Redskins' Executive Vice President/Head Coach in 2012. His resume includes two Super Bowl championships and a 157-119 regular season record as an NFL head coach. Additionally, he is one of 13 head coaches in league history to guide a club to a pair of Super Bowl victories and one of six to accomplish the feat in consecutive years.

During his NFL coaching career, Shanahan has been a part of teams that have played in 10 AFC or NFC Championship Games. He has coached in six Super Bowls - five with Denver and Super Bowl XXIX with San Francisco. In his nine seasons coaching at the collegiate level, Shanahan's teams participated in eight bowl games and won two national championships (Oklahoma - 1975 and Eastern Illinois - 1978).

In 2011, Shanahan oversaw the continued development of a young roster that featured 12 draft picks from the 2011 NFL Draft. Eleven of the 12 picks spent time on the team's active roster during the 2011 season, the most among all NFL teams. With a win against the New York Giants in Week 15, Shanahan pushed his career regular season win total to 157, putting him one win shy of tying Hall of Fame Coach Bud Grant for 13th all-time.

Shanahan became the 28th head coach in Redskins history on January 6, 2010. In his first season in Washington, Shanahan guided the Redskins to a two-win improvement over the 2009 campaign. His club set franchise season records for overtime victories (3) and completions (349), and registered the third-highest gross passing yards total in team annals. In addition, the 2010 Redskins registered a touchdown pass in 15 consecutive games for the first time in club history and led the NFL with nine completions of at least 50 yards, including one in four consecutive games for the first time since 1987.

Defensively, the Redskins recorded 27 takeaways on the season, which was their most since 2005 (28), including 14 interceptions, which tied for their most since 2005 (16). Washington registered at least two takeaways in six consecutive games from Weeks 2-8, the first time the franchise had done so in the same season since 1995. The unit placed linebackers London Fletcher and Brian Orakpo and cornerback DeAngelo Hall on the NFC Pro Bowl team.

In his tenure with the Broncos, Shanahan guided the franchise to two Super Bowl victories, three conference championship game appearances, seven postseason berths and nine winning seasons. He joined Vince Lombardi, Don Shula, Chuck Noll, Jimmy Johnson and Belichick as one of six coaches with back-to-back Super Bowl championships.

Shanahan led Denver to 138 regular-season victories in 14 seasons in Denver, a win total that marks the 10th-most by a head coach with one franchise in NFL history. Among the nine coaches who have more wins with one club than Shanahan, all eight who are eligible for the Pro Football Hall of Fame have been honored with membership. In the spring of 2010, Shanahan was inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame.

Shanahan arrived as head coach in Denver in 1995 from the World Champion San Francisco 49ers, where he served as offensive coordinator for three seasons (1992-94). The 49ers offense reached unprecedented levels under his leadership. San Francisco's three-year offensive averages under Shanahan's direction were the most productive in the history of pro football. His three-year averages included being No. 1 in the NFL in total points (an average of 469.7 per year), total touchdowns (60.3), rushing touchdowns (23.7), passing touchdowns (31.7), third-down efficiency (48.5%), total offense (6,230 yds.) and average yards per play (6.2).

San Francisco quarterback Steve Young re-wrote many NFL passing records and was named the NFL Most Valuable Player twice in his three years under Shanahan's guidance. In addition, Young threw for a record six touchdowns on his way to earning Super Bowl XXIX Most Valuable Player honors.

Shanahan was on the Broncos coaching staff for all three of their Super Bowl appearances in the 1980s (following the 1986, 1987 and 1989 seasons). He first went to Denver in 1984 as the club's wide receivers coach. He was promoted to offensive coordinator in 1985 and would serve the next three seasons in that capacity. Shanahan returned to Denver as quarterbacks coach on October 16, 1989, after serving as head coach of the Los Angeles Raiders in 1988 and through the first four games of the 1989 campaign.

Shanahan began his coaching career as an offensive assistant for Oklahoma in 1975-76, and the school won the national championship in his first year on its staff. In 1977, at the age of 24, he was hired as Northern Arizona's backfield coach and the Lumberjacks averaged a school-record 391.1 yards per game that season. A year later, Shanahan returned to his alma mater, Eastern Illinois, as offensive coordinator and helped guide the Panthers to the Division II national title. The year before Shanahan's arrival, the team was 1-10. In 1979, he served as offensive coordinator at Minnesota, where he implemented the run-and-shoot offense to help the Golden Gophers set 40 school offensive records.

Shanahan moved on to Florida the following year, inheriting the poorest offense in Division I football as well as a team record of 0-10-1. In Shanahan's four years at Florida, the team broke many offensive school records and went to four consecutive bowl games. During his stint as a college coach, his teams had a combined record of 78-29-2 (.725), won two national championships, and appeared in eight bowl games and four playoff contests.

A native of Oak Park, Ill. (8/24/52), Michael Edward Shanahan attended East Leyden High School in Franklin Park, Ill. He received a scholarship to Eastern Illinois University, where he played quarterback and earned bachelor's and master's degrees.

Shanahan and his wife, Peggy, have two children - son Kyle and daughter Krystal. Kyle is a graduate of the University of Texas and is the Redskins' offensive coordinator. Krystal is also a graduate of the University of Texas.

Kyle Shanahan enters his ninth NFL season and third with the Washington Redskins in 2012. He was originally hired to the position on January 20, 2010.

In 2011, Shanahan's offense incorporated a number of new players to a cast of emerging threats. Despite fielding 10 different offensive line combinations in 16 games, Shanahan's offense produced six 100-yard rushers. Ryan Torain rushed for a team-season-high 135 yards in the team's Week 4 win at St. Louis, and rookie running back Roy Helu became the first rookie running back in team history to post three consecutive 100-yard performances with 100-yard efforts in Weeks 12-14. Rookie running back Evan Royster also added 100-yard games in Weeks 16 and 17, making Helu and Royster the first rookie running back tandem in Redskins history to each rush for consecutive 100-yard games in a season.

In his first season with the Redskins in 2010, his offense set a franchise season record for completions (349), and registered the third-highest gross passing yards total in team annals. In addition, the team registered a touchdown pass in 15 consecutive games for the first time in club history and led the NFL with nine completions of at least 50 yards, including one in four consecutive games for the first time since 1987.

Before coming to Washington, Shanahan spent the previous four seasons with the Houston Texans, the final two as the team's offensive coordinator. Under Shanahan's direction, the 2009 Texans led the National Football League in passing yards (4,654) and ranked fourth in total offense (6,129 yards), both of which were franchise records. The Texans also set a franchise high with 29 touchdown passes. With Shanahan calling the plays, quarterback Matt Schaub and wide receiver Andre Johnson formed one of the league's most dangerous tandems. Schaub led the NFL in completions (396), attempts (583) and passing yards (4,776) and Johnson ranked first in receiving yards (1,569) and third in receptions (101). Both Schaub and Johnson were selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

Shanahan coached the quarterbacks in 2007 and the wide receivers in 2006 before being named offensive coordinator on January 11, 2008. In Shanahan's first year as a coordinator (2008), the offense ranked third in the NFL, gaining a then-franchise-record 6,113 yards and passing for a then franchise-record 4,267 yards. The offense was equally adept on the ground, running for 1,846 yards at a team-record 4.3-yards per carry clip. Shanahan helped a pair of players earn Pro Bowl nods, with wide receiver Andre Johnson making his third career trip and tight end Owen Daniels making his first after posting career highs in receptions (70) and receiving yards (862).

Johnson garnered first-team AP All-Pro honors after he led the NFL in receptions, with 115, and receiving yards, with 1,575. Running back Steve Slaton won the rookie rushing title with a franchise-record 1,282 yards.

With Shanahan as his position coach in 2006, Johnson earned a starting nod in the 2007 Pro Bowl. Johnson led the NFL with 103 receptions and had his second 1,000-yard season with 1,147 yards. Johnson's 103 catches accounted for 31.3 percent of the Texans' total completions, more than any receiver in the league. Opposite Johnson, veteran Eric Moulds contributed 57 catches for 557 yards and a score.

Shanahan joined the Texans from the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, where he served as offensive quality control coach during the 2004 and 2005 seasons. In his first season with the Bucs, he helped rookie Michael Clayton establish franchise rookie records for receptions and receiving touchdowns. He also helped receiver Joey Galloway finish seventh in the NFL in receiving yardage in 2005.

Shanahan spent the 2003 season as a graduate assistant at UCLA, which earned a berth in the Silicon Valley Bowl.

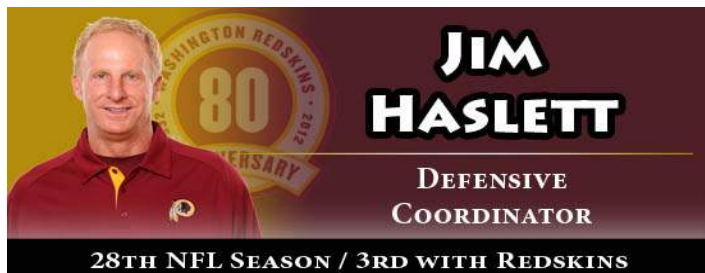

He attended Duke University in 1999 and played wide receiver for the Blue Devils before transferring to the University of Texas in 2000. He spent two seasons at wide receiver for the Longhorns and as a senior, played in 12 games, averaging 8.9 yards per reception.

Shanahan was born in Minneapolis and attended Cherry Creek (Colo.) High School. Shanahan and his wife, Mandy, have two children.

Jim Haslett, who has experienced success in all facets of the National Football League, including as a player, coordinator and head coach, enters his third season as the Redskins' defensive coordinator in 2012 after having joined the team on January 15, 2010.

Haslett is a veteran of 27 NFL seasons, including nine as a player, 11 as an assistant coach and seven as a head coach.

In 2011, Haslett's defense vastly improved from their first year in a 3-4 scheme, finishing as the 13th-ranked defense in the league after ranking 31st in 2010. His defensive secondary also improved to 12th in the NFL in passing yards allowed per game (222.1) from ranking 31st (261.7) in 2010. His unit produced 41 sacks in 2011, the most for the Redskins since 2000 (45).

Haslett was instrumental in helping transition of veteran defensive lineman Barry Cofield from a 4-3 defensive tackle to the nose tackle position as well as help transition rookie linebacker Ryan Kerrigan to a two-point stance after playing defensive end throughout college at Purdue. His tutelage of Kerrigan paid dividends instantly, as the rookie caused a turnover in three of his first four career NFL games (one interception vs. NYG, and a forced fumble in games at DAL and at STL) and was named the NFL's Defensive Rookie of the Month for September. With Haslett's revamped defensive line of Cofield, free agent acquisition Stephen Bowen and a career-best season from Adam Carriker, linebacker London Fletcher amassed an NFL-high and career-high 166 tackles. Fletcher was also named to the Associated Press 2011 NFL All-Pro Team.

In 2010, Haslett transitioned the Redskins into a 3-4 scheme, a move that helped the team increase its takeaways. The Redskins' 27 takeaways and 14 interceptions were both the team's highest total since 2005. His unit produced three Pro Bowlers, Fletcher, linebacker Brian Orakpo and cornerback DeAngelo Hall, with Hall being named the game's Most Valuable Player. Hall tied a career high with six interceptions in 2010, including an NFL record-tying four-interception performance at Chicago in Week 7. Haslett's scheme helped Orakpo become one of the league's predominant edge rushers, as Orakpo became the first Redskins player ever selected to Pro Bowls in each of his first two seasons.

Haslett served as the head coach for the New Orleans Saints from 2000-05 and was the interim head coach for the St. Louis Rams for a portion of the 2008 season. Haslett previously served as defensive coordinator of the New Orleans Saints in 1996, the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1997-99, and the St. Louis Rams in 2006, 2007, and for the first four games of 2008 before being elevated to head coach. Haslett spent the 2009 season coaching the UFL's Florida Tuskers, which he led to a perfect 6-0 regular season record and a championship game appearance in earning UFL Coach of the Year honors.

During Haslett's first head coaching stint, the Saints were 42-38 during his first five seasons, including one NFC West Championship, with just one losing season (7-9 in 2001). He was a unanimous selection as Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year in 2000, when he led the Saints to the first playoff victory in franchise history. He was also honored as NFL Coach of the Year by The Sporting News and Pro Football Weekly.

Prior to becoming the Saints' head coach, Haslett made his mark as defensive coordinator in Pittsburgh, where he helped the Steelers win the AFC Central division in 1997. In his three years there, Haslett guided his defense to NFL rankings of sixth, 12th, and 11th, respectively. The units were particularly stout against the run, leading the league twice, and finishing third once, in rushing yards allowed per attempt. Linebacker Chad Brown, linebacker Levon Kirkland (twice), safety Carnell Lake (twice), defensive tackle Joel Steed and cornerback Rod Woodson all earned Pro Bowl selections under Haslett's watch.

Haslett began his NFL coaching career as the Los Angeles Raiders' linebackers coach in 1993. After two seasons there, he took the same role in New Orleans in 1996, before being promoted to defensive coordinator in 1997. Haslett also served as defensive coordinator for the WLAF's Sacramento Surge (1991-92) and the University at Buffalo (1989-90), where he joined the coaching profession in 1988 as linebackers coach.

Haslett originally entered the NFL as a second-round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in 1979. As an inside linebacker, he would go on to win Associated Press Defensive Rookie of the Year that season and followed it up with an All-Pro selection in 1980. He played seven seasons for the Bills (1979-85) and was later named to the franchise's Silver Anniversary Team. Haslett finished his playing career with the New York Jets in 1987.

Haslett was born December 9, 1955, in Pittsburgh, where he attended Avalon High School. He played collegiately at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, where he was a four-time Little All-America selection, playing defensive end and linebacker. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2001.

Haslett is married to his wife, Beth, with whom has three children. His oldest daughter, Kelsey, is a student at Clemson. His son, Chase, is a quarterback at Illinois, and his youngest daughter, Libby, is entering her junior year of high school. The family currently resides in Ashburn, Va.

Jacob Burney enters his third season with the Washington Redskins after being named the Redskins' defensive line coach on January 21, 2010.

In 2011, Burney's defensive line surpassed their full-season sack output from 2010 (9.0) by Week 7, finishing with 18.0 sacks on the year. The line accounted for 44 percent of the team's 41 sacks this season compared to 31 percent of the team's 29 sacks from 2010. The defensive line helped make the Redskins' pass rush one of the most multi-faceted threats in the NFL in 2011. With defensive ends Stephen Bowen (6.0) and Adam Carriker's (5.5) sack totals combined with linebackers Ryan Kerrigan (7.5) and Brian Orakpo (9.0), the Redskins were one of only three NFL teams to have four players with at least 5.5 sacks on the season.

Burney's unit helped the overall defense improve to the 13th-ranked defense in the league from 31st a year before. Under his guidance, Carriker and free agent acquisitions Barry Cofield and Bowen reached career highs. Carriker's 5.5 sacks in 2011 surpassed his combined total of 3.5 sacks during his first four seasons in the NFL. Cofield, playing at nose tackle for the first time in his career, led all interior linemen with eight pass deflections, while helping free up linebacker London Fletcher to lead the league in tackles with a career-high 166. Bowen's 6.0 sacks led all Redskins' defensive linemen and surpassed his total career mark of 5.5 sacks during his first five seasons.

In 2010, Burney's defensive line occupied offensive linemen to help free Orakpo and Fletcher to make plays en route to Pro Bowl appearances. His unit helped hold eventual Super Bowl champion Green Bay to 13 points in a Week 5 overtime win, Green Bay's lowest output of the season.

Prior to coming to Washington, Burney spent seven seasons working under current Redskins Executive Vice President/Head Coach Mike Shanahan in Denver (2002-08), following stints with Carolina (1999-2001) and Cleveland/Baltimore (1994-98).

Over the course of Burney's seven years in Denver, the Broncos allowed the 10th-fewest yards and 12th-fewest rushing yards in the NFL. They ranked in the top five in rush defense three times during that span.

In 2007, Burney's group recorded nine takeaways (seven fumble recoveries and two interceptions), which led the AFC and ranked second in the NFL among defensive lines. He was instrumental in the development of 2006 fourth-round draft pick Elvis Dumervil, who recorded 26 sacks over his first three seasons, including 12.5 in 2007, his first year as a starter. That total was sixth in the league and Dumervil's four takeaways tied for the most among NFL defensive linemen.

Burney coached defensive ends in 2006 when Denver was one of just three NFL clubs to have a trio of defensive ends register at least six sacks. In 2005, Denver finished 13-3 en route to an AFC West division title, thanks in large part to a run defense that surrendered just 85.2 yards per game, the second-best mark in the NFL. Twice that season the Broncos allowed opponents less than 20 yards rushing in a game.

Burney's 2004 defensive line helped the Denver defense rank fourth overall and fourth against the run. Defensive end Reggie Hayward racked up a career-high 10.5 sacks, a figure that ranked third in the AFC that season. The year prior, in 2003, Denver also ranked fourth in the league in overall defense, while defensive end Bertrand Berry racked up a career-high 11.5 sacks and fellow defensive ends

Hayward and Trevor Pryce had 8.5 apiece. Pryce was a Pro Bowl selection in 2002 in leading a defense that finished sixth overall in the league and fourth against the run.

In Burney's final two seasons in Carolina (2000-01), the Panthers registered 74 takeaways, which was the fourth-highest total in the league over that period. In 2001, defensive end Mike Rucker registered a career-high and team-leading nine sacks.

Before joining Carolina, Burney spent five seasons with Cleveland/Baltimore as defensive line coach. In his first year with the Browns in 1994, he oversaw a defensive line that helped their defense surrender only 204 points (12.75 per game), nine rushing touchdowns and 3.6 yards per rush attempt. In his final season with the franchise, in Baltimore in 1998, Burney helped develop defensive end Michael McCrary into a Pro Bowl starter, while the defense ranked sixth in the league.

Before entering the professional coaching ranks, Burney spent 11 years coaching on the college level, including stops at New Mexico (1983-86), Tulsa (1987), Mississippi State (1988), Wisconsin (1989), UCLA (1990-92) and Tennessee (1993). He coached the defensive line at each stop, except for Mississippi State where he tutored the inside linebackers.

Burney was a three-time All-Southern Conference selection at Tennessee-Chattanooga, where he earned a bachelor's degree in 1981. A native of Chattanooga, Burney was born Jan. 24, 1959. He and his wife, Madrinna Patton, have two sons: Jacob, who was a four-year letter winner at Bucknell (2002-05) and Benjamin, who was an honorable mention All-Big 12 cornerback as a senior at Colorado in 2009.

3RD NFL SEASON / 3RD WITH REDSKINS

Richmond Flowers enters his third season with the Washington Redskins in 2012, having worked as an offensive coaching assistant during his first two seasons.

In 2011, Flowers helped wide receiver Jabar Gaffney post career highs in receptions (68) and receiving yards (947). Flowers was very instrumental in the development of third-round draft pick Leonard Hankerson, who, in his second career start at Miami in Week 10, posted eight receptions for 106 yards.

In 2010, Flowers worked primarily as an offensive assistant on a unit that set a franchise record in completions (349) and finished with the third-highest gross passing yardage totals in team history (4,261). The offense also registered a touchdown pass in 15 consecutive games from Weeks 2-17 for the first time in team annals.

Flowers was a seventh-round draft pick of the Jacksonville Jaguars in 2001, but spent most of that season on the Dallas Cowboys' practice squad. Chris Foerster enters his third decade of developing some of the game's top offensive linemen in 2012 in his third season as Offensive Line Coach of the Washington Redskins.

In 2011, Foerster played an integral role in developing an offensive line that featured 10 different starting combinations in 16 games. Foerster helped groom two rookies as starters, as undrafted rookie tackle Willie Smith and seventh-round rookie guard Maurice Hurt started a combined 11 games for the Redskins in Weeks 9-16. The line helped pave the way for three different rushers to compile a total of six 100-yard single-game rushing performances, including three by rookie running back Roy Helu, two by rookie running back Evan Royster, and one by running back Ryan Torain.

During the 2010 season, Foerster molded an offensive line featuring four new starters into a unit that helped Washington feature one of the league's most explosive downfield passing attacks. The protection of Foerster's line played an integral role in allowing the Redskins to lead the league in 50-plus-yard receptions in 2010 (nine). He continues to help develop left tackle Trent Williams, the team's 2010 first-round pick (fourth overall), who started 14 games as a rookie.

Prior to joining the Redskins in 2010, Foerster spent two years as the offensive line coach of the San Francisco 49ers. In 2009, Foerster's line helped running back Frank Gore rush for 1,120 yards, the second-highest total of his career and his fourth consecutive 1,000-yard season. Gore also set a career high with 10 rushing touchdowns and earned his second Pro Bowl selection.

Foerster was originally hired as the 49ers Co-Offensive Line Coach on February 15, 2008 before assuming the title of Offensive Line Coach in Week 8 of the 2008 season.

Foerster's 2008 line helped pave the way for running back Frank Gore's third consecutive 1,000-yard rushing season, while also blocking for an offensive unit that ranked fifth in the NFL in plays of 20-or-more yards (64). In the final eight games of the season, the offensive line limited opponents to two sacks per game after allowing four sacks per contest during the first half of the year.

During his 19-year NFL coaching career, Foerster's teams have combined for nine playoff appearances and two championship games. During that time, he has coached at least one Pro Bowl player in 11 of those seasons.

Prior to joining the 49ers, Foerster spent three years (2005-07) as the offensive line coach and assistant head coach for the Baltimore Ravens. Under Foerster, tackle Jonathan Ogden made the Pro Bowl in all three seasons. In 2007, the offensive line cleared the way for running back Willis McGahee to rush for 1,207 yards, the second-highest total of his career, and earn a trip to the Pro Bowl. The 2006 Ravens offense set team records for fewest sacks allowed (17) and most wins in a season (13).

Before joining the Ravens, Foerster served as the offensive coordinator for the Miami Dolphins (2004), tight ends coach for the Indianapolis Colts (2002-03) and offensive line coach for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1996-2001). While in Tampa Bay, Foerster helped three players make a combined five Pro Bowl appearances - Tony Mayberry (1997-99), Jeff Christy (2000) and Randall McDaniel (2000). As the assistant offensive line/tight ends coach for the Minnesota Vikings (1993-95), Foerster helped tutor Hall of Fame guard Randall McDaniel, who earned Pro Bowl appearances in all three seasons and was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2009.

With a total of 27 years coaching experience, Foerster also made an impact in the collegiate ranks, serving as the offensive line coach for the University of Minnesota (1992), assistant offensive line/special teams coach for Stanford (1988-91) and offensive line coach for Colorado State (1983-87). He began his coaching career in 1982 as a graduate assistant at Colorado State after a successful career with the Rams as a center from 1979-82. Foerster originally joined the Rams football team as a walk-on before earning a scholarship as a sophomore.

Richard Hightower enters his third season with the Washington Redskins in 2012. He is entering his third season coaching special teams, and in addition, he also earned the title of Assistant Defensive Backs Coach during the 2012 offseason.

In 2011, Hightower's special teams unit ranked first in the NFC in kick return average allowed (20.8 yards) for the second consecutive season. Additionally, the unit ranked fifth in the NFC in opponents' average starting position (21.8-yard line on kickoffs). He also helped Brandon Banks become one of the league's most consistent return specialists. Banks finished the season with career highs in kick returns and kick return yards with 51 kick returns for 1,174 yards, which led the NFL in both categories. Hightower and Smith aided kicker Graham Gano, who finished the season with a career-high 31 field goals made, tied for the second-most in a single season in team history. During the season, Gano connected on a 59-yard field goal in Week 9 to set the Redskins record for longest field goal converted in franchise history. Hightower and Smith helped guide punter Sav Rocca, who finished the season by tying a career-high in net punting average with 39.0, tied for the second-highest in franchise history (Matt Turk – 39.2) and he also tied a career-high of punts inside the 20-yard line with 28, seventh-most in a season in team history.

In 2010, with Hightower's guidance, the Redskins finished second in the NFL in kickoff coverage allowing an average of 19 yards per return and 10th in punt return average with 10.8 yards. Returner Brandon Banks established a single-game franchise record with 271 combined return yards against the Lions.

He joined the Redskins after spending one season as wide receivers coach at the University of Minnesota. At Minnesota, Hightower coached the Gophers' Eric Decker, a First-Team All-Big Ten Selection before he was drafted in the third-round by the Denver Broncos.

Hightower began his coaching career with the Houston Texans in 2006 as a coaching assistant on Gary Kubiak's staff, where he assisted the defensive backs, the special teams, and handled various quality control duties before being promoted to Special Teams Assistant two years later.

Under Special Teams Coordinator Joe Marciano and Hightower, the Texans special teams unit was one of the most consistent and explosive in the NFL. Kicker Kris Brown turned in the best season of his career, setting franchise records for most points (124), made field goals (29) and field goal percentage (.879). Returner Jacoby Jones returned two punts for touchdowns, a franchise record, and finished third in the AFC with a 12.1-yard punt return average. 5TH NFL SEASON / 3RD WITH REDSKINS

Matt LaFleur enters his third season as the Quarterbacks Coach for the Washington Redskins in 2012 after being originally named to the position on January 20, 2010. LaFleur will be tasked with developing rookies Robert Griffin III and Kirk Cousins, the two quarterbacks selected by the team in the 2012 NFL Draft.

In 2011, LaFleur helped veteran quarterback Rex Grossman establish a single-season career high in completions (265). Under LaFleur's tutelage, Grossman also set career highs for yards per game (242.4) and completion percentage (57.9), and helped facilitate career years for receiver Jabar Gaffney and tight end Fred Davis.

McVAY

TIGHT ENDS

4TH NFL SEASON / 3RD WITH REDSKINS

Sean McVay enters his third season with the Redskins – his second as tight ends coach -- and his fourth NFL season in 2012. He was named to his position on February 16, 2011 to replace former tight ends coach Jon Embree, who had left the team prior to Week 14 of the 2010 season to become the head football coach at the University of Colorado.

In 2011, McVay played an integral role in the emergence of tight end Fred Davis, who surpassed his previous career highs despite playing in only 12 games. Davis caught 59 passes for 796 yards, the second-highest total on the team in both categories. Before missing the final four games of the season, Davis was on pace to set a franchise record in receiving yards by a tight end and was on pace to post the first 1,000-yard receiving season by a tight end in Redskins history.

McVay served as an offensive assistant to the Redskins in 2010, in addition to working with the tight ends during the final four weeks of the season following Embree's departure. The Redskins offense ranked eighth in the NFL in passing yards per game (244.6) and tight end Chris Cooley ranked second among NFL tight ends in receptions (77) and third in receiving yards (849). The offensive unit also set a franchise record for completions in a season (349), and registered a touchdown pass in 15 consecutive games for the first time in team history. The Redskins' offense led the NFL with nine completions of at least 50 yards, including one in four consecutive games for the first time since 1987.

McVay joined the Redskins prior to the 2010 season after an undefeated regular season with the Florida Tuskers of the United Football League (UFL), where current Redskins Defensive Coordinator Jim Haslett served as the head coach. The Tuskers finished a perfect 6-0 before losing in the UFL's inaugural championship game. McVay served as the Tuskers tight ends coach in addition to working closely the team's running backs. McVay originally entered the National Football League as an offensive assistant with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2008.

During his time in Tampa Bay, McVay worked closely with wide receiver Antonio Bryant, who recorded career highs in receptions (83), receiving yards (1,248), and touchdowns (7), en route to winning The Sporting News Comeback Player of the Year Award.

McVay graduated from Miami University (Ohio) where he played wide receiver from 2004-07, earning Miami's Scholar-Athlete Award in 2007.

4TH NFL SEASON / 2ND WITH REDSKINS

Chris Morgan enters his second season with the Washington Redskins in 2012 after having been hired as Assistant Offensive Line Coach on February 8, 2011.

In 2011, Morgan played a role in helping prepare two rookies to become starters, as undrafted rookie tackle Willie Smith and seventh-round rookie guard Maurice Hurt started a combined 11 games for the Redskins in Weeks 9-17. The line helped pave the way for three different rushers to compile a total of six 100-yard single-game rushing performances, including three by rookie running back Roy Helu, two by rookie running back Evan Royster, and one by running back Ryan Torain.

Raheem Morris is entering his first season with the Washington Redskins after having been hired as Defensive Backs Coach on January 23, 2012.

From 2009-11, Morris was the head coach of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers after having been hired as the league's youngest head coach in 2009. In 2010, his team finished with a 10-6 record one season removed from finishing 3-13, marking the best single-season turnaround in the NFL in 2010 and the largest turnaround in Buccaneers history.

Prior to his tenure as head coach, Morris served in multiple capacities with the Buccaneers during two different stints with the team. He spent two seasons as the team's defensive backs coach from 2007-08, during which time the Buccaneers allowed only 170.5 passing yards per game, the lowest total in the NFC and the second-lowest total in the league. In those two seasons, the Buccaneers totaled 22 interceptions, tied for the most in the NFC.

Morris spent one year as the defensive coordinator at Kansas State University in 2006. Morris helped garner conference recognition for seven players on his defensive unit, including two first-team All-Big 12 honorees and one second-team selection.

Morris' NFL coaching debut came in 2002, when he served as the defensive quality control coach for the Buccaneers en route to the team's first championship in Super Bowl XXXVII. That season, the Buccaneers' defense allowed a league-low 12.3 points per game, the third-lowest average allowed by an NFL team since 2000. He served as a defensive assistant in 2003 and as an assistant defensive backs coach from 2004-05.

During his 10 seasons with the Buccaneers, Tampa Bay finished ranked in the Top 5 in the NFL in total defense five times, including No. 1 rankings in 2002 and 2005. Additionally, the defense finished as the top-ranked pass defense on three occasions (2002, 2004 and 2007) and seventh or better in seven of 10 seasons with Morris on the staff.

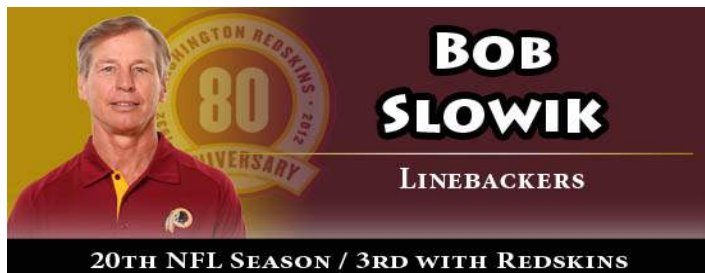

Morris began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant coach at Hofstra in 1998, where he was responsible for coaching the offensive scout team, developing scouting reports and handling video breakdown and computer input and analysis. He then landed at Cornell University as defensive backs coach and special teams assistant for the 1999 season. Morris joined Tampa Bay after spending 2000-01 seasons as defensive backs coach at Hofstra University. He also spent time in the fall of 2001 with the New York Jets, serving a defensive minority internship.

Morris played collegiately as a safety at Hofstra from 1994-97, and received his Bachelor of Science degree in physical education. Morris, an Irvington, N.J. native, was presented the Key to the City in his hometown during "Raheem Morris Day" on June 5, 2009.

Bob Slowik is entering his third season with the Redskins after having been named Washington's Defensive Backs coach on January 21, 2010. Slowik transitioned to Linebackers Coach during the 2012 offseason.

In 2011, Slowik's secondary showed a marked improvement and finished the year ranked fourth in the NFC in passing yards per game (222.1). With the unit starting four different safeties during the season, the defense still allowed just 22 passing touchdowns, which was tied for fifth-fewest in the NFC. The unit also allowed 19.3 completions per game, the fourth-lowest total in the NFC and the team's lowest total since the 2008 season (18.1).

Slowik was reunited in 2010 with Redskins Executive Vice President/Head Coach Mike Shanahan with whom he spent four seasons (2005-08) working under with the Denver Broncos. Slowik originally joined the Broncos as defensive backs coach (2005-06), before adding defensive coordinator duties in 2007. The following season (2008) he served solely as the Broncos' defensive coordinator.

In 2010, his secondary played an integral role in helping the Redskins record 14 interceptions, the team's highest total since 2005. His tutelage helped cornerback DeAngelo Hall match a career high with six interceptions. In addition to a memorable four-interception performance against Chicago on Oct. 24, Hall contributed two defensive touchdowns during the season and was named the Most Valuable Player of the 2011 Pro Bowl. According to STATS, LLC, both Hall and cornerback Phillip Buchanon finished in the top six in the NFC in passes defended.

Slowik has been a defensive coordinator in the NFL for 10 seasons, working in that capacity for Denver (2007-08), Green Bay (2004), Cleveland (1999) and Chicago (1993-98). During that time, six players have earned a total of 11 Pro Bowl appearances.

From 2005 to 2007, Slowik coached cornerback Champ Bailey and safety John Lynch who earned Pro Bowl appearances in each of those three seasons. Bailey, who twice also earned All-Pro honors under Slowik, recorded a then-NFL-best 21 interceptions and tied for the league high with three interceptions returned for touchdowns over that span. In addition, Slowik's defensive backs helped the club yield the eighth-lowest opponent passer rating (77.9) in the NFL over those three seasons.

As the Broncos' defensive coordinator/defensive backs coach in 2007, Slowik instructed a pass defense that allowed the seventh-fewest yards per game (193.4) in the NFL. Denver began the year by holding its first two opponents to less than 75 passing yards, marking only the third time for the franchise since the 1970 NFL merger that it allowed 75 or fewer passing yards in consecutive games. Slowik also worked with a defense that tied for third in the league with 34 forced fumbles, a total that was the franchise's highest in 17 seasons, and one that included Pro Bowl selections Bailey and Lynch.

In 2006, Slowik coached a Broncos defensive backfield that was anchored by Bailey, who finished second in the Associated Press Defensive Player of the Year voting after tying for the NFL lead with 10 interceptions and leading the league with 11 takeaways.

During his first year as Broncos defensive backs coach in 2005, Slowik's group totaled 20 interceptions, the most by a Denver secondary in four seasons, and was led in that category by Bailey, who had a then career-high eight interceptions to tie for fourth in the NFL. Bailey was named an Associated Press All-Pro for the second consecutive year while he and Lynch represented Slowik's secondary in the Pro Bowl.

In four seasons (2000-03) coaching Green Bay's defensive backs, the Packers recorded the highest takeaway total (116) in the NFL from 2001-03. The 2002 Packers defense led the league with 45 takeaways, while the 2001 unit tied for the NFL's second-highest takeaway total with 39.

Under Slowik's guidance, Packers safety Darren Sharper earned two Pro Bowl and Associated Press All-Pro selections (2000 and 2002). Sharper earned Pro Bowl honors and was named All-Pro in 2000 when he posted a career-best nine interceptions to lead the NFL and become the first Packer in 38 years to accomplish that feat. In the five seasons Slowik coached on the Packers' defensive staff, Sharper accumulated 31 interceptions for the top mark in the NFL during that period.

Before working one year as the Cleveland Browns' defensive coordinator during their 1999 expansion season when he directed the league's No. 11 pass defense, he spent six years (1993-98) as the Chicago Bears' defensive coordinator. In addition to his duties as defensive coordinator, Slowik coached the Bears' secondary during his first three years in Chicago and instructed their linebackers from 1996-97.

He joined the Bears after spending the 1992 season as a defensive assistant with the Dallas Cowboys, primarily working with the nickel defense. Dallas won Super Bowl XXVII while leading the NFL in total defense and limiting offenses to a league-low 27.2 percent success rate on third-down attempts. The Cowboys' pass defense ranked No. 5 in the NFL (167.9 ypg.).

Before entering the NFL, Slowik served as a college assistant for 14 seasons. Slowik coached outside linebackers at East Carolina University (1990-91) and helped the 1991 Pirates to an 11-1 record and a final national ranking of No. 9, both tops in school history.

Prior to working as Rutgers' secondary coach from 1984-89, Slowik held the same assignment at Drake University in 1983. He was a part-time defensive assistant at the University of Florida from 1979-82, where his wife, Carol, was the head women's track coach. Slowik worked on the Gators' coaching staff with Shanahan from 1980-82.

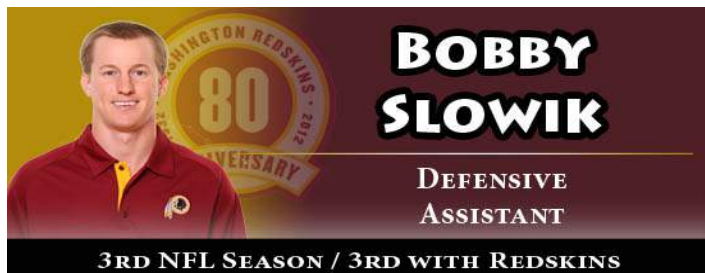

A two-year starting cornerback at the University of Delaware, Slowik helped the Blue Hens to a 16-6 mark in his final two seasons and a trip to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs as a senior. He began his coaching career in 1978 as a graduate assistant at Delaware and remained in that position for one year.

Born May 16, 1954, in Pittsburgh, Slowik prepped at Baldwin High School in Pittsburgh. He and his wife, Carol, have four children: Ryan, Andrea, Bobby and Steven. Bobby currently serves as a defensive assistant with the Redskins.

Danny Smith, an energetic presence on and off the field, has directed the Redskins' special teams since 2004, establishing Washington as one of the top returning and coverage units in the National Football League. Smith just completed his eighth season with the Redskins and his 17th overall NFL campaign.

In 2011, Smith's special teams unit ranked first in the NFC in kick return average allowed (20.8 yards) for the second consecutive season. Additionally, the unit ranked fifth in the NFC in opponents' average starting position (21.8-yard line on kickoffs). He also helped Brandon Banks become one of the league's most consistent return specialists. Banks finished the season with career highs in kick returns and kick return yards with 51 kick returns for 1,174 yards, which led the NFL in both categories. Smith aided kicker Graham Gano, who finished the season with a career-high 31 field goals made, tied for the second-most in a single season in team history. During the season, Gano connected on a 59-yard field goal in Week 9 to set the Redskins record for longest field goal converted in franchise history. Smith also helped guide punter Sav Rocca, who finished the season by tying a career-high in net punting average with 39.0, tied for the second-highest in franchise history (Matt Turk - 39.2) and tied a career-high of punts inside the 20-yard line with 28, seventh-most in a season in team history.

In 2010, Smith's unit ranked first in the NFC in kick return average allowed (19.0 yards) and second in the NFC in opponents' average starting position (23.7-yard line on kickoffs). He also helped undrafted rookie Brandon Banks turn into one of the league's most dangerous return threats. Banks' 431 punt return yards in 2010 were the most by a Redskin since Brian Mitchell's 506 yards in 1998. Banks returned a kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown against Detroit in Week 8, the first time a Redskins returner had done so in 70 games. Banks' 271 total return yards against the Lions that day set a franchise record. In addition, kicker Graham Gano's three game-winning overtime field goals in 2010 tied an NFL record currently held by John Kasey and Jason Hanson.

In 2009, the Redskins finished third in kickoff return average allowed (19.1 avg.) and sixth in punt return average allowed (6.9 avg.). The Redskins were one of only two teams to finish in the top six in both categories.

Smith's diligent scouting, preparation and creativity provided the Redskins with two of the most memorable plays of the 2009 season. With an eight-yard rushing touchdown on a fake field goal in Week 1 against the New York Giants and a 35-yard touchdown pass after shifting from a field goal formation in Week 10 against Denver, punter Hunter Smith became the first specialist in NFL history to rush and pass for a touchdown in the same season. In addition, Smith was named NFC Special Teams Player of the Week following a Week 10 victory over the Denver Broncos.

In 2008, Danny Smith's kickoff return unit finished third in the NFC and sixth in the NFL in average starting field position (29.0-yard line). His kickoff coverage unit also finished sixth in the NFL as the average drive for Washington's opponents started on the 25.7-yard line. Kick returner Rock Cartwright finished the season fourth in the NFC in kickoff return yards (1,307) and sixth in kickoff return average (25.6). Under Smith, Cartwright had three kickoff returns of 50 or more yards in 2008 (50, 58 and 87 yards) and also posted the second-longest kickoff return of his career, an 87-yard return at Cincinnati (12/14). In addition, Santana Moss returned just his second punt attempt of the season for an 80-yard touchdown at Detroit (10/26) and was named NFC Special Teams Player of the Week.

In 2007, the Redskins' kickoff return unit ranked fourth in the NFL and second in the NFC in average starting field position (30.8-yard line). Cartwright, who set a pair of club single-season records in kickoff returns (64) and kickoff return yardage (1,541) in 2006, followed with 1,339 yards on 52 kickoff returns for a 25.7-yard average.

Smith's kickoff coverage unit allowed just 19.2 yards per return, third-best in the NFL. The punt coverage unit prospered as well, allowing 6.8 yards per return, sixth-best in the NFL.

Smith also helped develop kicker Shaun Suisham, who connected on 63-of-98 field goal attempts from 2006-09, for a 78.8 percent success rate, the best in club history (minimum 40 attempts).

The Redskins' special teams were represented in the Pro Bowl following the 2007 season, with Ethan Albright earning a spot in the all-star game as the NFC's long snapper.

In 2006, Smith's special teams ranked among the best in the NFL. The unit finished fourth in the league in kickoff coverage and eighth in punt coverage. Bobby Turner is entering his third season as the Redskins' Assistant Head Coach/Running Backs Coach after having been originally named to the position on January 14, 2010.

In 2011, Turner was responsible for developing a young running back corps that included rookies Roy Helu and Evan Royster. Helu finished the season as the team's leading rusher, carrying 151 times for 640 yards, the second-highest yardage total by an NFL rookie running back that season. In Weeks 12-14, Helu became the first rookie running back in Redskins history to post three consecutive 100-yard games. Royster followed in Weeks 16-17, rushing for 100 yards in each game, making Helu and Royster the first rookie running back tandem in NFL history to each post consecutive 100-yard rushing games in a season.

Turner came to Washington in 2010 after spending the previous 15 seasons (1995-2009) as the Broncos' running backs coach, where he was part of teams that earned two Super Bowl victories (1997-98), three AFC West titles (1996, '98, 2005) and seven playoff berths (1996-98, 2000, '03-05).

During his first season in Washington, Turner helped develop Ryan Torain into a feature back. Torain posted career highs in carries (164), yards (742) and touchdowns (four). Under Turner, Torain ran for 172 yards against Tampa Bay in Week 14, the 10th-highest total in Redskins history.

During his 15 seasons in Denver, the Broncos produced the most rushing yards (32,829) and the most total yards (86,523) in the NFL. Over that span, six different running backs rushed for at least 1,000 yards in a single season, including Tatum Bell, Terrell Davis, Reuben Droughns, Clinton Portis, Mike Anderson and Olandis Gary.

Turner helped the Broncos record 11 individual 1,000-yard rushing seasons during his tenure, a total that tied for the third-most in the league and one that includes an NFL-record four-year streak of having a different 1,000-yard rusher (2003-06). Under Turner, the Broncos ranked among the NFL's top five in rushing during 10 of his 15 seasons, and 16 different running backs posted at least one 100-yard rushing game in the regular season or playoffs under Turner's guidance, a total higher than any other team in the NFL since 1995. In addition, Turner helped Denver become the only franchise since the inception of the common NFL Draft in 1967 to have two undrafted rookies reach 500 rushing yards in their first season with Selvin Young (2007) and Mike Bell (2006) accomplishing this feat in back-to-back campaigns.

In his final season in Denver, Turner helped Knowshon Moreno lead all rookies in rushing (947 yards), yards from scrimmage (1,160) and touchdowns (7).

The Broncos posted 105 individual 100-yard rushing games in the 15 seasons under Turner, whose list of 100-yard running backs includes: Davis (41 100-yd. games), Portis (18), Anderson (12), Tatum Bell (9), Droughns (6), Gary (4), Travis Henry (3), Correll Buckhalter (2), Quentin Griffin (2), Young (2), Mike Bell (1), Aaron Craver (1), Peyton Hillis (1), Derek Loville (1), Glyn Milburn (1) and Michael Pittman (1).

Before his arrival in Denver, Turner was assistant head coach, offensive coordinator and running backs coach at Purdue University from 1991-94. During his tenure, the Boilermakers' running game and entire offense improved each season, going from 106th in the nation in 1990 to 12th in 1994, a season in which it set numerous school records, including rushing touchdowns (36) and average per carry (5.01). The offense produced 336 points, the highest Purdue total since 1969. Turner's backfield also produced the school's first 1,000-yard rusher in 18 years in All-Big Ten second-team selection Mike Alstott (1,188 yards and 14 TDs).

Four different Boilermakers rushed for more than 100 yards in a game in 1992, a total of seven times, and in 1991, Turner coached the Big Ten Freshman of the Year in running back Corey Rodgers, as well as former Cincinnati Bengal Jeff Hill.

Turner served as the running backs coach at Ohio State University from 1989-90, during which time the Buckeyes went to two bowl games and had one of the best running games in the Big Ten. His 1990 backfield consisted of five future NFL running backs, highlighted by Robert Smith, who finished the season with 1,126 yards and eight touchdowns and was named Big Ten and National Freshman of the Year.

In 1989 the Buckeyes ranked No. 1 in Big Ten rushing at 241 yards per game as well as No. 1 in total offense and scoring, coming within 16 yards of having two 1,000-yard rushers (Carlos Snow, 1,031 yds., Scottie Graham, 984 yds.).

Before his stint at Ohio State, Turner coached the running backs at Fresno State (1983-88) and at his alma mater, Indiana State (1975-82). At Fresno State, he coached future pros Lavale Thomas (Packers), Anthony Mosely (Bears, Raiders) and Craver (Dolphins, Broncos, Chargers, Saints).

Turner started his collegiate coaching career at Indiana State in 1975, coaching its running backs and quarterbacks and also working as the team's strength and conditioning coordinator that season. Turner was Indiana State's defensive backs coach as well as its strength and conditioning coordinator from 1976-77 before working as the team's running backs coach and special teams coordinator from 1978-81. In his final year at Indiana State in 1982, he coached defensive backs and served as special teams coordinator.

During his eight years on Indiana State's coaching staff, Turner recruited and coached two All-American defensive backs - Wayne Davis (Chargers, Redskins) and Vencie Glenn (Chargers, Vikings). He also helped ISU running back Vincent Allen post a 1,000-yard rushing season in 1975.

Turner began his coaching career at Haworth High School in Kokomo, Ind., as an assistant with the football and basketball teams from 1972-74.

A native of East Chicago, Ind., Turner enjoyed a career as an all-conference defensive back at Indiana State, where he played both football and basketball. He tied the school's single-season record as a sophomore by posting nine of his 16 career interceptions, including two returned for touchdowns. He earned his bachelor's degree from Indiana State in health and physical education in 1972 before receiving his master's degree from the school in education/administration in 1976.

Turner, attended East Chicago Washington High School, where he played four sports (football, basketball, baseball and track). He was inducted in 1993 into the Indiana High School Basketball Hall of Fame Silver Anniversary Team and was voted into the East Chicago, Ind., Sports Hall of Fame in 1999.

Bobby and his wife, Kimberly, have three daughters: Nacole, Kris-hana and Kiaana.

Scott Campbell enters his 26th NFL season and his 12th with the Washington Redskins. Campbell has had two different stints overseeing either the club's college or pro scouting departments during his tenure with Washington, and assumed an expanded role directing both departments in the 2008 offseason.

Campbell originally joined the Redskins in 2001 as Director of College Scouting, overseeing the area scouts and assisting with the Redskins' draft operations before heading up the scouting of pro personnel for the next four seasons. He returned again in 2006 to take charge of the college scouting department, where he spent two seasons before being promoted to his current role.

Previously, Campbell spent the 2000 season in Chicago as the Bears' director of pro personnel, after three seasons in Kansas City, serving as the southeast area scout (1997-99).

Campbell began his NFL career with the Atlanta Falcons in 1987, serving as an assistant to his father, Head Coach Marion Campbell - who also served as the defensive coordinator for the NFC Champion Philadelphia Eagles in 1980. Campbell spent three years as the administrative assistant to the coaching staff, helping coordinate training camp, scouting, quality control and additional football logistics. In 1990, he moved over to Atlanta's personnel department full-time for a seven-season run as an area scout.

Campbell earned his bachelor's degree in education from the University of Georgia in 1984, where he played on the offensive line for three SEC Championship squads, including the 1980 National Championship team. He went on to earn a master's degree in education from Auburn University in 1986, while working with the Tigers' coaching staff as a graduate assistant from 1985-86. During the 2012 offseason, he was instrumental in signing two of the most sought after young wide receivers - Pierre Garçon (25) and Josh Morgan (26) - as well as resigning All-Pro linebacker London Fletcher. In the 2011 off-season abbreviated by the NFL labor dispute, Schaffer helped the team secure several key free agents, among them defensive end Stephen Bowen, guard Chris Chester, nose tackle Barry Cofield and cornerback Josh Wilson. In 10 seasons (2003-12) with the Redskins, Schaffer has negotiated the contracts for all of Washington's draft picks, including 12 first- and second-round picks.

In addition, Schaffer's duties have expanded to include work on the business side of the organization. He focuses on legal matters, including drafting sponsorship, licensing, and employment agreements, as well as overseeing workers' compensation.

Morocco Brown enters his fifth season in 2012 as Director of Player Personnel after being hired from the Chicago Bears on May 20, 2008. He is responsible for coordinating the advance scouting of Redskins opponents, participating in all Draft meetings, and the evaluation of all professional leagues for potential free agents and trade prospects.

Brown has been responsible for adding a number of free agents that have contributed significantly during the tenure of Head Coach Mike Shanahan. In an aggressive start to the 2012 free agency period, Brown was instrumental in the signing of receivers, Pierre Garçon and Josh Morgan.

During an abbreviated free agency period during the 2011 offseason, Brown was instrumental in the Redskins signing defensive end Stephen Bowen, nose tackle Barry Cofield and cornerback Josh Wilson, all of whom helped the Redskins jump from the 31st-ranked total defense in the NFL in 2010 to the 13th-ranked total defense in 2011. Bowen posted six sacks in 2011, more than the 5.5 sacks he registered in his first five NFL seasons. In Cofield, Brown identified a nose tackle that Redskins coaches have labeled among the brightest in the game. Cofield led all NFL defensive tackles in 2011 with eight pass breakups (eight), according to NFL GSIS. Wilson started at cornerback in all of the Redskins' 16 games in 2011, helping the unit improve from 31st to 12th in the NFL in passing yards allowed per game.

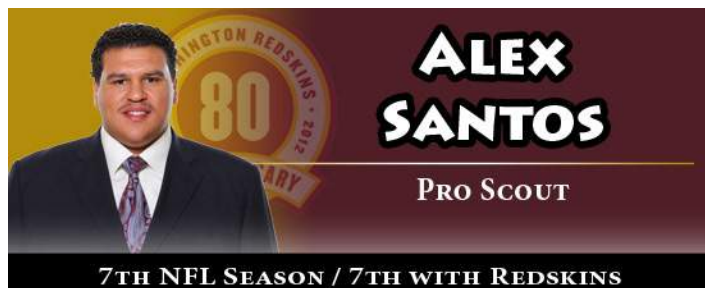

Brown also assisted in the acquisitions of fullback Darrel Young and wide receiver Anthony Armstrong, both of whom made their Redskins debuts in 2010. Young, a converted linebacker, has played in 29 games in two seasons and posted career highs in rushes (six), rushing yards (33), rushing touchdowns (one), receptions (15) and receiving yards (146) in 2011. Armstrong burst onto the scene in 2010 with a 44-reception, 871-yard debut season. Armstrong provided the Redskins with a downfield threat, amassing four receptions of 50-plus yards, tied for third-most in the NFL that season.

Prior to re-joining the Redskins, Brown spent the previous seven seasons as Assistant Director of Pro Personnel with Chicago (2001-07). He directed the scouting of upcoming AFC opponents and the Arena Football League for the Bears. During his tenure in Chicago, the Bears captured the 2006 NFC Championship and made the club's first Super Bowl appearance since 1985.

Brown spent the 2000 season and 2001 offseason as an assistant scout with Washington. Brown prepared weekly scouting reports, evaluated NFL prospects and managed free agent and draft prospect visits. Brown originally entered the NFL as a scouting intern with the Indianapolis Colts in the spring of 2000.

He is a 1999 graduate of North Carolina State University, where he lettered in football for four years and served as team captain his senior season. He led the Wolfpack in tackles for three straight seasons and was twice named honorable mention All-ACC. He earned a bachelor's degree in parks, recreation and tourism with a concentration in program/sports management.

A native of Hampton, Va., Brown attended Kecoughtan High School. Brown's brother, Milan, is the head men's basketball coach at Holy Cross. Brown and his wife, Kendra, have two sons, Macari (6) and Macaiden (4). The family resides in Ashburn, Va.

Alex Santos enters his seventh season with Washington and his fifth as a pro scout. In addition to the advance scouting of Redskins opponents, Santos is responsible for assisting with the club's evaluation of personnel in the NFL and Canadian Football League. He originally joined the Redskins in 2006 as a pro personnel assistant.

Santos spent 2005 as a graduate assistant and quality control/offensive line intern coach at Vanderbilt University. Prior to that, he was the assistant head football coach at Eastside High School in Paterson, N.J. At Eastside, he also coached the offensive line, directed the strength and conditioning program and was one of the school's special education instructors.

A four-year starter at guard for North Carolina State University, Santos graduated in 2000 with a bachelor's degree in Spanish Literature. He also earned a master's degree in Special Education from New Jersey City State University. A native of Paterson, N.J., he currently resides in Ashburn, Va.

Richard Mann II is entering his third season with the Washington Redskins as a pro scout. In addition to the weekly advance scouting of Redskins opponents, he is responsible for assisting in the evaluation and writing of player reports on potential talent in NFL free agency, the Canadian Football League and the Arena Football League.

Mann spent his first three seasons with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, where he served as a personnel assistant in 2007 and 2008 and a college personnel assistant in 2009. With the Buccaneers, he was able to work with his father, 28-year veteran NFL coach Richard Mann.

A return specialist at Salisbury University, Mann earned his bachelor's degree in interpersonal communication with a minor in marketing before receiving his master's degree in sports leadership from Duquesne University in June 2008. Mann was a three-year member of the football team at Salisbury, earning All-Conference honors in 2002, while averaging 31.8 yards per kickoff return.

A NOTE ON NAMES

Please include suffixes for the names of quarterback Robert Griffin III and running back Roy Helu, Jr. when possible. In addition, for all text media, please include the cedilla on the "c" in the name of wide receiver Pierre Garçon. On a full keyboard, the ç character can be inserted by holding ALT while typing "0231" on the numpad. Furthermore, the family of wide receiver Joshua Morgan has requested that he be referred to by his full first name "Joshua," rather than the shortened version, "Josh" in written references.

First Title - Dec. 5, 1937

Ten thousand fans stomped up Broadway behind the brass band following the franchise's first title. In the game, Sammy Baugh completed 11-of- 15 passes, while Cliff Battles had touchdown runs of 75 and 76 yards as the team routed the Giants, 49-14, for the Eastern Championship.

WELCOME TO...

FedExField.

FedExField is the premier stadium in the National Football League. Located in Landover, Md., the privately financed FedExField was completed in a record 17 months and hosted the Redskins home opener Sept. 14, 1997 – a 19-13 overtime win against the Arizona Cardinals.

The stadium is located on a 200-acre site and is the largest in the NFL with a seating capacity of 85,000. FedExField is one of just two stadiums with three tiers of luxury suites. Suites are equipped with restrooms, a refrigerator, televisions, a lounge area, two rows of seats and bar stools.

FedExField increased the Redskins attendance capacity by more than 40 percent when the team left RFK Stadium after 1996. Nevertheless, the Redskins have sold out every home game for the past 44 seasons (368 regular-season and 13 playoff games) including all 148 (preseason, regular and postseason) contests at FedExField entering 2012.

Construction on FedExField began in March 1996 and cost $250 million. The following year, $30 million was spent to create a 170,000 square-foot atrium encircling the entire stadium making the Joe Gibbs Club Level the most spectacular in the league.

When Daniel M. Snyder became the Redskins owner in July 1999, one of his first tasks was to make improvements to FedExField. Immediately, millions were invested in such projects as replacing metal rails with glass rails in order to provide unobstructed sight lines in the stadium bowl.

Between the 2010-2011 seasons, Snyder created a new standard of stadium excellence when FedExField underwent an additional series of enhancements.

The Redskins, along with NRG Energy, one of the largest energy companies in the United States, brought the largest solar installation of renewable energy in the region to FedExField— 8,000 solar panels, 10 electric vehicle charging stations and a 30-foot tall solar sculpture. Prince George's County Chamber of Commerce honored the Redskins' innovation in solar installation by recognizing them as the 2011 Green Business of the Year.

Snyder also created unique Executive Suites, upper level and end zone party decks, the NFL's largest video wall and added more than 1,000 cash parking spaces. The Redskins installation of new 100-foot long endzone HD Videoboards and eight new digital ribbon boards provide fans with out-of-town scores and statistics, and the implementation of a text message traffic alert system gives fans updates on the best gameday routes.

Snyder was also instrumental in the multimillion dollar renovation and replacement of the video control room and the movement of the late Sean Taylor's locker for viewing on the stadium's Club Level.

Since his inaugural season, Snyder has spent more than $100 million to enhance FedExField and ensure a best-in-class experience for fans.

FedExField while being the official home of the Redskins, is also host to a variety of special events including premier college football games, such as the 2011 Army/Navy Game; world-class performers, like award winning country music artist Kenny Chesney; international matches, such as the soccer friendly between U.S. Men's National Team and Brazil; and much more.

Redskins Special Events opens up a world of possibilities by making its most exclusive areas that host the "who's who" of Washington during Redskins games available for non-game events throughout the year. FedExField is the perfect backdrop for any special occasion. Check out <http://events.redskins.com/>

A DAY OF FIRSTS

On September 14, 1997, the Redskins opened their new stadium with a thrilling 19-13 overtime victory over the Arizona Cardinals in front of a record crowd of Washington fans.

In their first game at their new home, the Redskins were forced into overtime when Cardinals kicker Kevin Butler connected on a 47-yard field goal to tie the score with just two seconds remaining.

The Cards won the toss to start the extra period, but rookie defensive lineman Kenard Lang stripped Arizona running back Leeland McElroy of the football, and Derek M. Smith recovered for the Skins on the 35-yard line.

Quarterback Gus Frerotte (right) was sacked on first down, but on the next play he found Michael Westbrook in the endzone for a game-winning 40-yard score.

Since 1992, the Washington Redskins have made their home on a picturesque 162 acres of land in Ashburn, Va., where Redskins Park is home to the Gerald S. Snyder Training Facility, the team's year-round headquarters. Twenty years later, grand plans for construction and renovation will help Redskins Park stay amongst the upper echelon of team training facilities in all of professional sports.

In the summer of 2012, the Redskins and Virginia Gov. Bob McDonnell announced plans for $30 million in renovations to the team's Northern Virginia home. The plan includes financing from both the Commonwealth of Virginia and Loudoun County.

"During the last two years, the Washington Redskins have made significant improvements to modernize FedExField and Redskins Park, ensuring a best-in-class game day experience for our fans and an excellent training environment for our players," said Executive Vice President/General Manager Bruce Allen. "We are very pleased to continue our relationship with the Commonwealth of Virginia that my father established 41 years ago. We are proud to call Loudoun County the home of Redskins Park."

In addition, the team officially opened the Redskins Indoor Training Facility in early 2012. The facility stands 96 feet high and houses a 120-yard practice field, complete with hanging uprights and space to accommodate the team's video needs.

"This is going to give us a great opportunity to work when we have some inclement weather," Allen said. "We're trying to find ways to maximize the players' health and efficiency."

The team has called Redskins Park its home since August of 1992, enjoying a private haven away from urban distractions. The complex features four football fields, strength training and sports medicine facilities, offices and meeting rooms for players, coaches and front office staff, and accommodations for print and broadcast media. The building amasses some 65,000 square feet.

Located in Loudoun County, one of the fastest growing areas in the United States, Redskins Park is tucked away from highways and other office buildings. The two-story concrete and glass structure looks deceiving in size. Visitors enter a bright, spacious lobby that leads to three carefully groomed natural grass playing fields and an additional artificial turf practice surface.

The lower level of the building is dedicated to football operations, including player and staff locker rooms, an enhanced strength and conditioning center, the equipment room, athletic training rooms and video studio. The athletic training facilities include an x-ray room and dentist office, in addition to private examining rooms for the medical staff that cares for the team throughout the year. The lower level consists of a racquetball court and a half-court basketball gym. A catering kitchen is located adjacent to the gym, used as a dining hall during practice sessions throughout the year. A state-of-the-art players' lounge was added in 2004.

One side of the upper floor consists of coaches' and personnel offices and a large, 105-seat multipurpose auditorium, used for team meetings, press conferences and video sessions. The other side of the building houses offices for the club's accounting, marketing, public relations and administrative offices. The public area of the building consists of large hallways, high ceilings with natural lighting and numerous trophy cases displaying the team's rich history and tradition.

The Sprint studio was completed in the rear of the building in 2005. The glassed studio, which houses the Redskins Broadcast Network including Redskins Nation broadcasts, overlooks the facility's four practice fields.

In 2005, an additional building adjacent to the main facility was constructed housing the Redskins Charitable Foundation, information technology and retail departments, as well as the Media Workroom. The Workroom includes 25 work stations, wireless internet, high-definition flat screen televisions, men's and women's restrooms, and a kitchen featuring a full-size refrigerator/freezer, soda machine, microwave, water cooler, coffee maker and storage cabinets.

TRAINING CAMP

The Washington Redskins and Head Coach Mike Shanahan will hold 2012 Washington Redskins Training Camp presented by RE/MAX beginning on Thursday, July 26th at Redskins Park. This will mark the 11th year the Redskins will prepare for the upcoming NFL season at their year-round facility before shifting camp to Richmond, Va. in 2013.

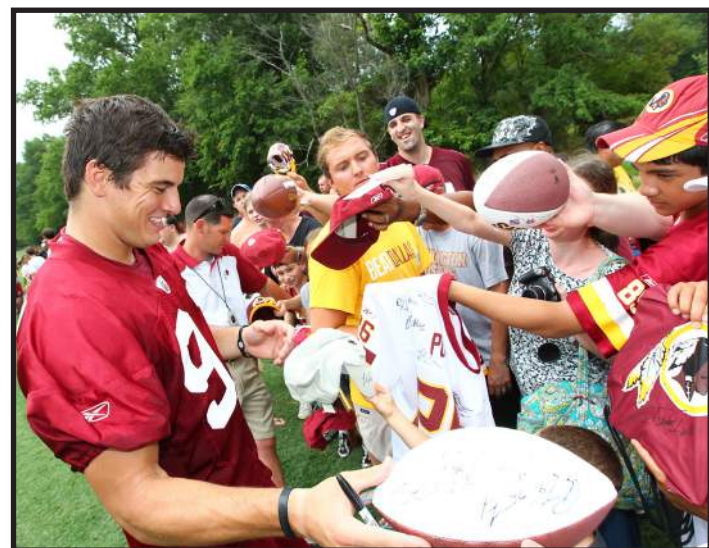

Training camp is an annual ritual in the NFL, an opportunity for fans from all over the country to come see their favorite Redskins players in action on the practice field, and get a first glimpse of the newly signed free agents and draft picks.

Selected practices are open to fans, free of charge, including Fan Appreciation Day on Saturday, Aug. 4. Visitors are encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets, as they will be able to sit along the hill overlooking the four playing fields. After each practice, fans will have the opportunity to gather autographs and take photos of their favorite players as they walk off the field to the locker rooms.

Extensive media attention is expected, and to assist visiting press in their coverage, the Redskins provide a media workroom equipped with power inputs, phone lines and wireless internet. Credentialed media will have additional access to the players and practice areas, and can coordinate interviews through the Redskins Public Relations Department. All media attending Redskins Training Camp must obtain credentials to gain access to the grounds. For information about credential policies and procedures, media members should contact Angela Alfano of Redskins Public Relations at alfanoa@redskins.com.

The Redskins first held training camp at Redskins Park in 2000, opening the complex to visitors for the first time in franchise history. Thousands of fans from all over the Washington, D.C. area, and beyond, were able to watch their favorite players just steps from the practice fields, gather autographs and take part in the Redskins experience. After a two-year hiatus, with camp being held at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa., the Redskins returned to Ashburn to get ready for the 2003 season, and have remained there since.

For a detailed training camp practice schedule please visit Redskins.com for more information, including updated team news, practice times and training camp directions. Parking will be available to all fans visiting Redskins Park at no cost.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS MARCHING BAND

The Washington Redskins Marching Band has led sellout crowds in stirring renditions of the team's fight song, "Hail to the Redskins," for generations. In 2012, the Redskins Marching Band will celebrate its 75th anniversary, having entertained Redskins fans at home games from Griffith Stadium to RFK Stadium to FedExField.

The all-volunteer ensemble formed in 1937, when George Preston Marshall brought the team from Boston to Washington D.C. with the goal of entertaining fans from the moment they walked into the stadium until the time they exited.

For three quarters of a century, the Marching Band has taken great pleasure in entertaining fans with their pre-game and halftime shows.

Over the years, the group has marched between train stations and stadiums before notable games, down Broadway before a New York Giants game in the early 1960s, and around the concourse of Tampa Stadium during Super Bowl XVIII.

"Hail to the Redskins" made its debut as the official fight song of the Washington Redskins on Aug. 17, 1938. The song was written by renowned band leader Barnee Breeskin and the lyrics were penned by Hollywood movie star Corinne Griffith, Marshall's wife.

HAIL TO THE REDSKINS

*"Hail to the Redskins!
Hail Victory!*

*Braves on the warpath,
Fight for old D.C.!"*

*Run or pass and score,
we want a lot more.*

*Beat 'em, swamp 'em, touchdown,
let the points soar!*

*Fight on, fight on,
'til you have won,*

Sons of Wash-ing-ton! (Rah! Rah! Rah!)"

MEET THE HOGETTES

Another trademark of the FedExField experience is a sighting of "The Hogettes," a highly spirited group of Redskins fans that dress in polka dot skirts, brightly colored wigs, plastic hog snouts and enjoy extra-large cigars.

"The Hogettes" started appearing at Redskins games in 1983, named after Washington's popular offensive line from the 80's, known in football lore as "The Hogs."

The group can be found at FedExField for every Redskins home game as well as in the stands for certain Redskins road contests.

The members are extremely active in the community as well, making appearances at golf tournaments, telethons and parades to support children's charities.

"The Hogettes" received the ultimate die-hard fan honor in 1999, when they were inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame with an exhibit in Canton, Ohio.

BURGUNDY & GOLDEN

This year marks the 50th Anniversary of the Washington Redskins Cheerleaders! They are the longest running NFL Cheerleading team in history!

In July 1999, the Washington Redskins Cheerleaders took the world stage for the first time since 1984, and went on their first Armed Forces Entertainment (AFE) Tour to the Balkans. That trip was their opportunity to be the first entertainers to perform for troops in Kosovo just weeks after the war ended.

Since that time they have regularly traveled to entertain the men and women of the U.S. Armed Forces in over 45 countries. While on tour, the Cheerleaders are able to meet thousands of troops and perform their entertaining Variety Show. The Variety Show is a 90-minute, 12-section, fully-costumed theatrical showcase and "Variety" is exactly what this show is: themed sections of rock, country, Latin and Broadway songs. In 2007 the Variety Show included a new section "A Tribute to our Troops," with a complete replica uniform from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

In April 2008, 12 cheerleaders and two team choreographers traveled to Bangalore, India helping to bridge two cultures by creating the first ever Cheerleading squad in the country.

The Redskins Cheerleaders traveled to Hong Kong, China, in January 2009, to help celebrate the Chinese New Year.

MEET THE 2012 CAPTAINS!

Jamilla, Talmesha, Ashley and Michelle

The most beautiful, talented and entertaining performers in professional sports just got even better! The "First Ladies of Football" have a an exciting 2012 season ahead. Each year four ladies are selected to lead the squad as captains and four as co-captains. This year Jamilla, Ashley, Michelle and Talmesha will be the four ladies heading up the team as captains. Along with Susan, Soldenise, Tecoya and Monique acting as co-captains in the task of getting the Cheerleaders ready for game day. The team added 15 new faces and created uniforms to showcase their athleticism and style. They also created the most unique and cutting-edge swimsuit calendar since production began 14 years ago. For field and stage, they added new sections to the already popular Variety Show, and have been rehearsing relentlessly to bring the best ever dance performances to FedExField. You get to be entertained by the world's most elite group who not only support, but also live, work and attend school in the Washington D.C., Metro Area. Nowhere in the entertainment industry will you find a greater collection of lovely and loyal individuals with so much to offer and the gracious hearts to do it.

JUNIOR REDSKINS CHEERLEADERS & SPIRIT EXPLOSION HALF-TIME

Junior Redskins Cheerleaders & Spirit Explosion Halftime Take Advantage of WRC Youth Programs:

The Junior Redskins Cheerleaders program is a fun, exciting and important part of the Washington Redskins organization. With an enrollment of 200 young ladies, ages 5-17, the program teaches the fundamentals of dance, showmanship and performance. Each year these young ladies are extended the opportunity to perform with the Redskins Cheerleaders at halftime shows, parades and other community events. Each cheerleader also receives a commemorative T-shirt, a tape of their performances, an autographed 2012-2013 Redskins Cheerleaders team photo, as well as memories to last a lifetime! The Junior Redskins Cheerleaders are the exhibition team for our youth dance program. Other exciting programs include our Spirit Explosion halftime show in front of the largest crowd in the NFL. The Redskins Cheerleaders perform a halftime show with hundreds of Dancers, Cheerleaders, and Band Auxiliary from area high schools, universities, and dance studios. It is a fun-filled and rewarding experience for everyone.

For more information on the October 7th Spirit Explosion performance, send an email to Stephanie Jojokian at jojokians@redskins.com, or jrcheerleaders@redskins.com for the Jr. Redskins Cheerleaders.

Hanging on the inside facade of FedExField are some of the most hallowed names in Redskins history. The names, encircling the playing field from above, pay tribute to 45 members of the organization whose contributions still resonate as the team celebrates its 80th anniversary in 2012.

The Redskins Ring of Fame added its 45th member in 2011, inducting former safety and defensive coordinator Richie Petitbon during halftime of the team's Week 16 game on Dec. 24.

Petitbon's legacy is closely intertwined with many of the legends associated with the Redskins in the latter part of the 20th century. Petitbon played for the Redskins from 1971-72, as the four-time Pro Bowler and two-time All-Pro was brought in to help form the nucleus of the "Over the Hill Gang." In 1978, he was named as the team's defensive coordinator, a position he held until 1993, when he was named the 21st head coach in Redskins history. He is one of only three Redskins to have participated in all five of the franchise's Super Bowl appearances as either a player or coach, joining Torgy Torgeson and Pro Football Hall of Famer Charley Taylor.

"From being a part of George Allen's 'Over the Hill Gang' to his tenure coaching in Washington, Richie Petitbon played an instrumental role in all five of the Redskins' Super Bowl appearances," Washington Redskins Owner/Chairman Daniel M. Snyder said prior to Petitbon's induction. "His induction into the Ring of Fame will be a proud day for the franchise and a well-deserved honor for one of the organization's most respected figures."

Added Executive Vice President/General Manager Bruce Allen, "This is a special day for Richie Petitbon, the Redskins, and the coaches that are such an important part of the team's legacy. Our organization and fans are forever grateful for Richie's leadership, especially during all five of our team's Super Bowls."

Former Redskins safety and coach Richie Petitbon (left) was honored with induction into the team's Ring of Fame in 2011. Petitbon was introduced by Hall of Fame cornerback Darrell Green and received a plaque from Executive Vice President/General Manager Bruce Allen (right).
